W. P. A. Blasts City's Hopes for Jail Project

OFFICIALS TELL SOLICITOR FUND NOT AVAILABLE

Construction Money To Be Gone Soon, Federal Men Inform Leist

$20,000 ADDITION ASKED

Sewer and Street Work Given Favor

Hopes of city officials to build an addition to the municipal building to house a modern jail, garage and health offices, appeared blasted Friday.

Carl C. Leist, solicitor, was informed Thursday afternoon in a conference with W.P.A. officials in Columbus that federal funds would not be granted for the project.

The city solicitor said he was told that present appropriations for W.P.A. would be exhausted in June and allocations would not be made on a project of this type. Projects being sponsored, he said, were of the type that could be suspended, such as sewer and street improvements.

$20,000 Addition Asked
Councilmen had planned on a $20,000 addition. They understood the city's share would be 25 percent of the cost and the government would provide the balance. A vote of residents would not be necessary for a $6,000 bond issue, Mr. Leist told councilmen at a recent meeting.

A resolution requesting the city auditor to certify the maximum maturity on the bond issue was read before council on Feb. 2, but no action was taken until definite information was received from W. P. A. officials. Councilmen planned also to confer with the county commissioners in the hope the county would be willing to contribute toward the improvement if arrangements were worked out for the care of juveniles.

Circleville has needed a new jail for many years, but it has been unable to provide the necessary funds.

LOGAN COMPANY GIVEN DISPOSAL PLANT CONTRACT

Contract for the construction of the city's disposal plant was awarded to William Loomis & Son, of Logan, O., Thursday by the board of control, comprised of W. B. Cady, mayor; Karl Herrmann, safety director; and L. E. Miller, service director.

The award is subject to the approval of council and the Public Works Administration.

Unidentified Men Beat Organizers For Auto Union

London, O., Scene of Trouble; Sheriff Declares That More Trouble Is Likely; Concealed Weapon Charge Filed

LONDON, Feb. 11—(UP)—Sheriff Gorman F. Clark today said "more trouble is likely" as an aftermath of the beating here yesterday of two organizers for the United Automobile Workers.

Arrested after he sought protection from the sheriff, Joe Ditzel, field representative from Toledo, was to be arraigned today in Squire O. C. Burris' court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Sheriff Clark said he found a .32 caliber revolver in Ditzel's automobile. Ditzel, under $1,000 bond, said he placed the gun in his car during the General Motors strike and "forgot all about it."

Nick J. Moskun, president of Detroit Local No. 210, was taken to the Franklin county line in an automobile and told not to come back, it was reported.

Sheriff Clark said he had been unable to learn the identity of men who had taken Moskun away or "a number of men" who earlier in the day had "beat up" Moskun when he and Ditzel had attempted to distribute literature to employees of the Armstrong Metal Products Co. at the plant entrance. Ditzel suffered a bruised nose.

Moskun, who had a black eye, said this was his third trip to London. Last week he was arrested for trespassing at the concern, which manufactures radiators.

All 175 employees of the Armstrong plant, which was moved from Michigan a year ago, are made eliminating a charge of $200 for funeral expenses and $125 for damages to the auto, attorneys said. Funeral expenses were paid by the commissioners. The amount sought is $25,075.

Bunn was killed in October, 1936, when his car was in a mishap at the bridge over Salt creek on the road between Tarleton and Adelphi. The suit charged the (Continued on Page Eight)

JUDGE SEEKING LOOPHOLE TO AID FLORIDA CONVICT

DETROIT, Feb. 11—(UP)—A judge — of all people — today sought a "loophole in the law" to save Willie Russell, 29, alias Charles Mason, from extradition to Florida where he is wanted as a fugitive from a chain gang.

Gov. Frank Murphy signed extradition papers after Russell was arrested and identified through fingerprints as a man who served seven years of a 15-year sentence for passing a $120 bad check and has escaped three times. Russell's attorney asked Circuit Judge Clyde L. Webster for a writ of habeas corpus to release him.

"If there is a loophole in the law," Judge Webster said, "I will be glad to extend leniency. When you consider 15 years for passing bad checks — that's some sentence. However, I don't mean to criticize the courts of other states."

Judge Webster adjourned the hearing until today to find the loophole.

OFFICIALS HUNT FOUR WANTED AS THEFT SUSPECTS

City and county officials checked highways Thursday night searching for four men wanted for the theft of an auto in Portsmouth.

Officers said the men were chased by officers of both Chillicothe and Lancaster. The last report received was that the stolen car, a Buick coach, was abandoned about one mile west of Lancaster and the men were believed to be hitch-hiking toward Circleville.

GRAFT INQUIRY'S LAWYER SCOFFS AT DAVEY OFFER

Metzenbaum Says Governor's Promise To Get Funds "Piece of Bunk"

PROBE WILL CONTINUE

Purchasing Agent Expected To Be Recalled

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11—(UP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey's promise to try to get funds for the senate committee's graft inquiry was termed "a swell piece of bunk" today by James Metzenbaum, counsel for the committee.

"The administration forces have blocked us at every turn in our efforts to get enough money to make a satisfactory investigation," Metzenbaum said.

"Now the governor makes this grandiloquent gesture, and it is a laugh."

"This committee has 14 days to go, and Mr. Davey says he hopes we will go into every department and make a complete and sweeping investigation. They take away our payroll, and then offer that kind of bunk. I wonder if anybody will be fooled by the eleventh hour gesture."

"Why wasn't a recommendation for funds made at the beginning of this investigation, the first of January, when we would have had time to make a thorough investigation?"

Inquiry Continues
Its legality upheld in court, the graft committee today continued its investigation of state purchases.

State Purchasing Agent Glenn Horn, who forced the court test of the committee's powers by refusing to answer questions concerning state coal purchases, was expected to be recalled as a witness. Horn avoided trial in the senate on a contempt citation by testifying before the committee late yesterday.

Common Pleas Judge John R. King ruled that a witness could be required to answer "any and all questions relative to the subject at hand."

Governor Davey said he had no intention of dismissing Horn. "I would not remove Mr. Horn (Continued on Page Eight)

ESSAY WRITERS TO COMPETE FOR CLUB'S AWARDS

The Business and Professional Women's club of Circleville has announced that it will sponsor an essay contest for high school pupils. The subject to be used is "Our Town's Business."

The project has the approval of Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools. Essays are to be submitted to judges, not yet named, by March 11. They will be judged by March 24.

This contest is a continuation of the club program for the year as planned by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs based on the topic, "Know Your Town's Business." Prizes of $5 and $3 will be given.

SOUTH BLOOMFIELD HAS 27 CASES OF MEASLES

Twenty-seven cases of measles were reported Friday in South Bloomfield. City health officials said new cases had been reported in 12 families, Friday.

A quarantine for scarlet fever was placed on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Metzger, Harrison township, Thursday. Edna, 9, and Richard Metzger, 11, pupils of Duval school, are ill of the disease. Dr. A. D. Blackburn, health commissioner said the cases were mild.

Approval of Farm Bill Strikes Snag in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—(UP)—A parliamentary tangle around the McNary-Boileau amendment today delayed efforts of administration leaders to obtain early senate approval of the farm bill report—No. 1 objective on President Roosevelt's "must" list.

A point of order made by Sen. Lewis B. Schwellenbach, D., Wash., who objected to drastic changes made in the McNary-Boileau dairy amendment by senate and house conferees, was the major obstacle in the way of the measure.

Schwellenbach contended that identical amendments, designed to protect dairy livestock and poultry producers from new competition, were inserted in the senate and house versions of the bill and that the conferees had no authority to change them.

Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., an expert parliamentarian, contended that procedure followed by the senate in earlier consideration of the farm bill permitted the conferees to make any changes they desired.

He said that the senate received the house version of the measure, struck out all except the enacting clause, and substituted the senate draft. This procedure, he said, made all sections subject to change in conference.

The McNary-Boileau amendment prohibited the sale of commodities produced on land diverted from the production of wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco under the farm program. It was modified by the conferees to permit a "normal" number of dairy cattle to be maintained on the diverted land. Livestock and poultry interests could demand an investigation by the secretary of agriculture in event they felt their industries were subjected to new competition.

Morrison, who was blinded Feb. 8, 1917, by an explosion in a chemical laboratory in Pennsylvania's anthracite region was sent to the Vanderbilt clinic for the operation by the Delaware county Lions club.

Arthur W. Worthington, chairman of the committee that arranged for the operation, said he could not confirm the report that the "window panes" had come from the eyes of a dead baby.

"We are reluctant to discuss this case," Worthington said, "for fear it may raise false hopes for many blind people."

"We don't know whether this operation will turn out successfully, and it can only be successful in cases similar to Mr. Morrison's, whose sight was normal before the explosion."

Worthington said he had discovered that the first operation of the kind had been performed in France in 1895. Similar operations have been performed recently in Russia, where eyes are kept in "cold storage" for this purpose.

It was learned that the operation on Morrison was performed by a famous French surgeon, the third generation of his family that has been doing this type work.

Trio Caught, Two Escape Indiana Pen

Long-Termers Flee During Darkness Of Night; Cell Bars Sawed

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Feb. 11—(UP)—Three of five long-term convicts, who escaped with surprising ease from the Indiana state penitentiary last night, were captured by state police early today.

Two men, August Cummings, 37, and Frank Pavlench, 24, were apprehended on a state highway near Wheatland, Ind., after they obtained a ride from William A. Davis, a farmer. The officers stopped Davis for a routine block-ade inspection.

"I'm okay," said Davis, "but I just picked up these two fellows in the back seat a couple of miles down the road."

The desperadoes gave themselves up without resistance.

Later the capture of George Christian, 26, was announced. Police lost trace of the other two — Theodore Hulbert, 26 and Angelo Genga, 26. They had a head start on their accomplices but also were believed to be in the vicinity of Wheatland, 30 miles south of here.

State troopers barricaded roads throughout Northern Indiana and set bloodhounds on the trail near Wheatland.

Cell Bars Sawed

Officials said the men were members of the "idle crew"—convicts for whom there was no work in the prison shops — and apparently spent their time in sawing the bars of their cell doors, placing them in position with adhesive tape during inspections.

Early last night they left their cells after placing dummies in the bunks to simulate sleeping forms and climbed to the roof of the cell

INJURIES FATAL TO SON OF COURT JUSTICE BUTLER

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 11—(UP)—Severe shock, the result of painful injuries suffered when he fell from a speeding passenger train, today brought death to Kevin Butler, 31-year-old son of United States Supreme Court Justice Pierce Butler.

Butler died at Westmoreland hospital at 1:05 a. m. without recovering full consciousness. Hospital attaches said the shock was so great they could not risk moving him to make X-ray examinations of injuries believed to include a fractured skull and a possible broken back.

Butler's young wife, Martha A. Butler, who had flown from New York to Pittsburgh and chartered a fast automobile to bring her here was at his bedside when death came.

Butler, of St. Paul, Minn., was injured yesterday when he fell through the window of a Pullman lavatory when the Pennsylvania railroad limited he was riding whipped into "Devil's Curve," near Penn. Pa., at 50 miles an hour.

He was given a blood transfusion late last night that brought an immediate slight improvement in his condition. Despite that, however, and an "iron will to live," he was given but slight chance to recover.

CHILLICOTHEAN TO FACE JURY ON FORGERY COUNT

Charles Payne, 29, was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond Friday by Squire B. T. Hedges when he admitted a charge of forgery. The charge involved a $6 check passed on the Stiffler store on Jan. 24.

Payne, a resident of Chillicothe, was unable to provide bond.

AGENT FOR NAZI PRESS INSISTS GERMANY QUIET

DUCE MOVING TROOPS?

Rome Denies Army Being Moved To Border

BY UNITED PRESS

Secretary Cordell Hull's remark on Wednesday that the people of the whole world have the jitters was strikingly illustrated in Europe today as the whole uneasy continent seethed with rumors of unrest in the German army, trouble in Austria, troop movements in Italy, and the course of the royal dictatorship in Roumania.

The German situation was clarified by a statement of Dr. Otto Dietrich, Reich press chief, who told the United Press by telephone from Adolf Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat that the army is quiet, the German borders are open and that Hitler is in good health.

Some Nazi quarters admitted that there is a "natural feeling" of uncertainty and unrest in the army because of the recent shakeup of officers, but said it did not extend beyond that.

Trouble in Roumania

In Roumania, King Carol established a royal dictatorship under the army and a state of siege after Premier Octavian Goga's anti-Jewish government had been forced out. Goga retired with the bitter exclamation: "Israel, you are victorious."

In Austria, the government increased the term of compulsory military service from one year to 18 months to enable the government to retain many men in service in case of need.

Rome strongly denied persistent rumors that two or three Italian divisions had been sent to the Brenner pass frontier because of reports of imminent trouble in Austria.

Everyone To Profit BIG MONEY

Dividends Declared

Time marches on and with each turn of the hour turns up additional money saving items for the great general Circleville sale to be staged February 17.

Such bargains will be offered as $1.50 silver forks for 45 cents, reliable men's wrist watches for $8.50, full size seamless and hemmed bed sheets for 50 cents, women's crepe rayon dresses for $1.54, $2.10 paint brushes for $1.50, auto tube patching kit for 8 cents, fine men's shirts for 79 cents, bridal ensembles for $19.75.

Merchandise for all the family, for all families and at prices so low they can not be ignored. This sale will be the first of a series aimed at attracting additional attention to the business establishments of Circleville. Most of the city's merchants are participating. Watch for their sale ads. And in the meantime watch this column for additional hints as to what will be offered.

STATE BUILDING MANY ADDITIONS TO INSTITUTIONS

New Hospital Being Erected At Orient Farm For The Feeble-minded

COST ABOUT $125,000

Numerous Other Projects
Being Completed

The state institution for the feeble-minded at Orient, Scioto township, will be the home of a complete new hospital in the near future, the work being a part of the state welfare department's building program.

The hospital will house the infirm. When completed it will have room enough for 250 patients. Its cost will be $125,000.

The department spent $1,200,000 in improving its accommodations at state institutions last year, Welfare Director Margaret Allman said Friday. The P.W.A. cooperated in the program, a portion of which has been completed.

In some instances new buildings have been constructed for inmates, and in others new administrative structures have been made available for use of personnel and their vacated quarters used for inmates.

Dormitory Remodeled

A dormitory, at the Institute for Feeble-minded, Columbus, was remodeled at a cost of $125,000 to accommodate 250 patients, and 180 additional patients are now housed in a new wing constructed at the Columbus state hospital at a cost of $160,000.

A new wing at the Athens state hospital cost $150,000 and houses 170 persons.

A new dining hall, kitchen, bakery and cold storage plant cost $150,000 to build at the Institute for Feeble-minded at Apple Creek. By taking these services out of the main building, the institution was able to accommodate 170 more patients.

New cottages have been constructed at the Toledo and Massillon state hospitals, costing $160,000 and $125,000 respectively, and house 330 new patients between them. A new home for nurses and women employees at Massillon is expected to be completed about May 1, and to cost $110,000 to provide additional space for 180 patients.

A new dining hall, kitchen, bakery and cold storage plant, to be built at the Mansfield reformatory, at a cost of $150,000 will provide accommodations for 170 inmates by shifting the services to new quarters.

New Girls' Cottages

Two new cottages have been recently occupied at the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware. Each cost $125,000. Remodeling work at the Cleveland state hospital, at a cost of $125,000 has provided additional facilities for 200.

New operating quarters at the Mt. Vernon state sanatorium cost $30,000.

Three new cottages at $125,000 each have been built at the Dayton Hawthorn and Longview state hospitals for tubercular patients.

WARDEN DISPOSES OF 674 DOGS DURING LAST YEAR

Harry W. Riffle, Pickaway county dog warden disposed of 674 dogs during 1937, a report completed Thursday reveals. In 1936 he killed 915, in 1935, 760, and in 1934, 316.

During the last year 28 heads were sent to Columbus for examination for rabies. In the group 25 were negative, and three positive cases were reported.

Hedges Chapel History Traced, Work Under Way

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Ashville, Phone 79

Have been making inquiries about the present Hedges Chapel church which is now undergoing repair with a new foundation and basement. The land on which the church stands was donated by the late Joshua Hedges. But the year in which this present church was built, has not yet been learned. The former Hedges Chapel was located just north of Brinkers' Corner. What was known as the North Union church was located immediately across the road from the home of Arthur Hines. The congregation was of the United Brethren faith. Remember about the older ones telling how, when they were children, and attending Sunday school there, they went barefoot until near the church when their shoes were put on: And school over the same thing was repeated except that the shoes came off instead of on, and were carried home and carefully stored away for the next Sunday. The time about 1840. The Ohio canal was new then.

Ashville
Sale Well-Attended
The Jacob Glick sale out at Walnut Thursday, was largely attended, weather fine, and the prices quite satisfactory. The sales have not yet been totaled and can not now be given. The Ashville Lutheran ladies with their lunch stand did very well and were pleased with their sales which amounted to near $70. The Glicks are coming to Ashville to make their home and will be moving in the near future.

TOOK "VENDOL" THREE WEEKS RELIEVED OF TEN YEARS PAIN

Had taken everything recommended for troubles in his stomach, but nothing ever gave as much relief as Vendol.

Here is a truly wonderful recommendation for what Vendol can do for men and women suffering from troubles in the stomach and other symptoms when due to constipation thereby allowing the system to fill up with poisons.

Mr. Fred F. Bissell of Bellefontaine, Ohio, a foreman in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says: "I had been suffering with my stomach for about ten years, had tried everything recommended to me but it's a positive fact, since taking Vendol about three weeks I have gotten more relief than from anything I ever tried. This medicine is truly wonderful."

"The first bottle helped so I got more. Today, I eat what I want but never suffer from sour stomach, acid risings, gas, short breath, heartburn or heavy feeling in my stomach. All these benefits came after Vendol relieved my constipation and I also notice now that I never feel bilious, dizzy or see spots before my eyes nor

LOANS $25 TO $1000

"I wrote my own Ticket"
"I was temporarily hard pressed for funds besides having a lot of burdensome payments and scattered bills to annoy me that stood in my way."
"It was a pleasant surprise to find a concern so willing to finance my needs on the kind of terms I could well afford. It was just like writing my own ticket. I took the matter in my own hands, summed up my needs, stated the amount I required and The City Loan helped me out of a tough situation."

VALUE RECEIVED
A loan usually costs less than the lack of it. As on any other commodity, charges on a loan are based fairly on the value of the service you receive. The hundreds of loans made at The City Loan every day accomplish many things and serve many worthy purposes, each a typical case of "value received".
Ask at our office about the loan you need. It's simple to arrange.

FARM LENDING NORMAL AGAIN AFTER 5 YEARS

Mortgage Foreclosures Set
At Less Than One Percent
Since 1935

PEAK HIT IN 1928

Commercial Banks Show
Much Activity

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—(UP)—Agricultural credit activity has returned to approximately normal after a five-year period of drastic readjustment, the Department of Agriculture reports.

Mortgage holdings of life insurance companies and Federal lending agencies have decreased steadily since 1935, while commercial banks and private lending agencies increased their holdings of farm mortgages, according to the department.

"Increased agricultural prosperity, evidenced by larger farm income, increased prices of farm products and the rising value of farm real estate formed the background supporting this resumption of normal credit conditions," the department said.

Foreclosure Drastically Reduced

The wave of mortgage foreclosures which swept the country at the depth of the depression, decreased sharply with the return of more normal farm income, the report showed. Fewer than 1 per cent of farm mortgages were foreclosed in 1936 and 1937, it was believed.

The farm mortgage holdings of life insurance companies reached a peak of $2,173,000,000 in 1928, decreased each subsequent year and fell to $897,000,000 on July 1, 1937, the department said.

Farm mortgage loans of open commercial banks reached a peak of $1,500,000,000 prior to the depression and then decreased steadily through 1935. With improvement in farm prosperity the lending of private banks picked up.

Commercial banks increased their mortgage loans from $488,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1937, to $504,000,000 on June 30, 1937. The shift in farm loans was principally from a long-term basis under life insurance lending to short-term loans by commercial banks.

Federal Agencies Used Less
The federally sponsored agencies showed a decrease in holdings of farm mortgages last year. A peak of $2,902,834,000 of Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans was reached on Oct. 31, 1936.

By Oct. 31, 1937, the loans outstanding of these agencies, amounting to $2,862,000,000, was less than at the end of any month since November, 1935. The decrease was attributed to increased collection of principal and a decline in liquidation of loans by foreclosure.

"The current demand for new mortgage loans apparently is decreasing despite increased demand for funds to finance the purchase of farms," the report said.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU— BY BOB BURNS

The other day I was sitting in on what they call a story conference at one of the studios and they were putting the different jokes and gags in their technical classification.

Some were oral gags; some sight gags, some situation gags; etc. I was kinda stumped because I don't believe in bein' too technical. If a thing's funny, it's jest funny and it spoils it to try to classify it.

For instance, one of the funniest things I've found out here is a bunch of men with indigestion from overeatin', sittin' around, hollerin' about payin' income taxes.

ANOTHER MUSIC CLINIC PLANNED AT UNIVERSITY

School music supervisors in Pickaway county are receiving invitations to attend Ohio state university's fourth annual music
clinic on Friday and Saturday,
Feb. 18 and 19.

The clinic, which is free, is intended primarily to aid supervisors preparing their students for participation in the state music festivals in the Spring, but the program is designed to be of assistance to other music teachers as well.

First day of the clinic will be devoted to the state contest numbers for class A, AA, and B schools — those with larger enrollments. On the second day the numbers for classes BB, C, and CC will be featured.

Three sessions will be held each day. Starting at 10 a. m. boys' and girls' glee club numbers will be heard. At 1:30 p. m. will come the program devoted to mixed chorus and orchestra, and at 7:30
p. m. will come the band numbers.
All sessions will be in the Armory.

Ohio State's student musical organization will be used to demonstrate the various contest numbers, each group being followed by a round-table on the manner of direction and rendition.

Following a round of district meets, state finals for the high schools will be held this Spring at Ohio State for the sixth consecutive year. Vocal ensembles will have their finals on April 22 and bands on April 23.

celebrate the completion was held.

Four Men Discuss City, County in Radio Talks

Circleville was the honored city in a program over radio station WHKC, Columbus, Thursday evening. The program was one of a series saluting central Ohio cities.

Four Circleville men, George F. Grand-Girard, veteran W. Main street druggist; W. E. Wallace, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary club; Sheriff Charles Radcliff, and Fred C. Clark, of the W. H. Albaugh, Co., were the speakers. They were introduced by George Ammer.

Mr. Grand-Girard, who has been in business at the same location since May 1, 1878, recalled the days of the stage coaches and canal boats. He said it was a common practice when he first started in business to chase pigs from the street in front of his store. The streets at that time were not paved and a hitching stand was located in front of his business establishment. A trip to Columbus and back with a horse and buggy in one day was an unusual feat. He recalled the laying of the tracks for the Norfolk & Western railroad, when a large crew of men put tracks through the city on Sunday to evade an injunction.

Mr. Wallace, speaking of the modern Circleville, pointed out that 75 percent of the residents for seven years. He told of the Kidney murder case in which six men were arrested. Four were electrocuted and two are serving life terms in the penitentiary. The sheriff told of the solution of a school burglary through an apple from which toothprints had been obtained, and the arrest of hit-skip drivers through broken headlights and damaged hub caps.

Mr. Clark spoke of the city's historic background, including the early earthworks of the Mound
Builders, the famous Logan Elm, and other historical highlights.

OPEN LETTERS

TO CITY, COUNTY PARENTS

DEAR FOLK: Your whole-hearted cooperation will be needed for the success of the anti-tuberculosis program to be presented in city and county schools between Feb. 15 and March 2. It will be sponsored by the city and county boards of health and the Ohio department of health. Tuberculosis is a preventable disease and it is curable if found before too much damage has been done. One feature of the program is the administration of "skin tests." These tests will be given to high school pupils, teachers, bus drivers, janitors, cafeteria cooks and others associated with the schools, who give their consent. The pupils must have written consent of their parents. The test is harmless and causes no discomfort. Health officials have made every effort to safeguard the health of our children. They deserve your cooperation in this worthwhile program.

CIRCUITEER.

TO HIGHWAY ENGINEERS

OFFICIALS: When you submit the final draft of plans for the new highway on Route 22 West of the Scioto river bridge, please take into consideration the half million dollars' worth of valuable farm land that will certainly be destroyed if certain types of structures are built. There are thousands of acres of productive land in the area immediately surrounding the road project, and I urge that you consider what kind of project would best protect this land. Circleville and Pickaway county residents and all persons who travel between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh on the federal highway are concerned by this part of the road. Annually it is inundated several times by the Scioto's floodwaters. Locally, much pleasure has been voiced since it seems certain that the project will at least become a reality.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ORGANIZATIONS

MEMBERS: The national observance of Boy Scout Week should make Circleville and Pickaway county organizations ashamed of the feeble efforts made to promote scouting in this district. The six troops we have are active, but there should be three times that many troops in this district. At the present time there are about 175 Scouts in this county. In questionnaires filled out by 573 boys in 14 different schools in the city and county, last year, there were 328, or 59 percent, who stated they wanted to join the Scouts. Out of this group 318 said their parents were willing for them to become Scouts. Where are the troops for these boys to join in the various districts of the county? At the time of the survey there were five troops in the district, two of which were in Circleville, serving a total of 110 boys. Scouting promotes good citizenship, good fellowship and decent living. Some of the older residents of the district should become good Scouts, help organize more troops, and boost the program. Officials are doing everything in their power, but they are helpless without the support of organizations.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SHOPPERS

FRIENDS: Come to Circleville on Feb. 17. That day will be open season on bargains, outstanding values in Circleville stores. Merchants are planning one of the greatest sales ever staged in this community. Prices of merchandise will be lower than those quoted anywhere in Central Ohio. The huge sale is sponsored by the Retail Merchants association. Prices and quality are guaranteed, and from all indications the event will be one not to be missed. Every type of merchandise will be included in the sale. Prepare to make your Spring purchases on Thursday. Circleville merchants are ready to convince you that this city cannot be surpassed as an outstanding shopping center.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SERVICE DEPARTMENT

GENTLEMEN: A suggestion was offered that deserves your prompt consideration. At many intersections, where paved streets join those with black-top surfacing, stones have worked loose from the patching and line the portion of the street used by pedestrians. They are making walking difficult, especially for women, and there is danger of someone falling and suffering an injury. It would require very little work to remove the difficulty. Your service department has made every effort to cooperate and I know you will welcome this suggestion.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BOARD OF HEALTH

OFFICIALS: When may we expect some action against the "Sawdust and Cuspidor League?" Before this city receives national recognition for tobacco chewers, I suggest that the board of health start a campaign against spitting on the sidewalks. Make a trip through the downtown district on Saturday night, observing the amount of chewers in production, and you will be convinced that it is time for health authorities to enforce some sanitary regulations. This is the season of the year when the chewers start practice for curves and distance. They are handicapped when the ground is covered with snow and winter gales are blowing. Circleville has ordinances against this unsanitary and disgusting practice, and they should be enforced. Let those who want to chew find a vacant lot. There are many Saturday night shoppers who have sent their dresses or suits to dry cleaners because some corner loafer didn't call his shot. Prosecution of a few members of the League would go a long way toward stopping the nuisance.

CIRCUITEER.

TO W. E. WALLACE

DEAR SIR: Your election as president of the Chamber of Commerce for a third term, the first time such an honor has been bestowed on any Circleville businessman, expresses the confidence civic leaders have in you and your interests for the development of this city. The organization has many accomplishments to its credit since you became its leader. Attendance at meetings has gained, activities have been increased. You are to be congratulated for your splendid work in the organization. I am confident the Chamber of Commerce will make great strides this year under your guidance.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Admiral William D. Leahy, Uncle Sam's chief of naval operations (which makes him top-ranking officers of our sea forces), resented it when Congressman Ralph Brewster of Maine asked him, as a witness before the house of representatives naval affairs committee whether our navy folk "originated the idea that five Americans" (five American warships) "are needed to lick three Japanese."

The admiral, as we know, replied that he never had heard such a suggestion before Congressman Brewster made it. He added that he would be "very happy" to take a 50-50 chance against the Japanese, and rather implied that a 25 American percentage against a 75 Japanese ratio (or thereabouts) would not alarm him.

He did not fully explain what he meant when he said he would be "very happy" to do it. Queer things would make these rough old sea dogs happy.

THE REAL QUESTION
However, Congressman Brewster undoubtedly could have so framed his query as to have obtained quite a different rejoinder from Admiral Leahy.

American naval experts long have recognized that, in the event of a clash between Uncle Samuel and the mikado, the former certainly would have to carry hostilities in to the mikado's home waters, or their neighborhood.

For example:

The Philippines, until virtual independence was extended to them, were a constant source of worry to our naval strategists.

HYPOTHETICAL CONDITION
The northern end of the Philippine archipelago is a short night's steaming from a Japanese base at the southern end of Formosa.

Suppose the Japanese had undertaken a Philippine seizure. They could have been in possession and waiting, fully prepared, between nightfall and daybreak.

An American fleet could have arrived, all out of breath and sweaty, after nearly a week of forced voyaging.

Surely it is not too much to assert that the defensive force would have at least a 5-5 advantage.

Our navy always took this into account. It never admitted that, fight for fight it could be beaten, but it did agree that a contest of that sort would be long drawn out—in fact, indefinitely.

LONG DRAWN OUT?
I do not think that the average Occidental naval fighting man has a very high opinion of Japanese efficiency.

The Japanese is given credit as a good imitator—no more than that.

He could lick an essentially weak Russian fleet, as he did early in the Russian-Japanese war a generation ago, but no expert concedes that he could do it now, against any competent western power.

Nevertheless, as a raider (a pirate, put it), he might be a terrible nuisance. It might take a navy all out of proportions to his military size to lick him.

PIRACY IN MEDITERRANEAN
The Mediterranean situation is illustrative of the difficulty.

Italian submarines are supposed to be engaged in piratical activities—but Italy does not officially admit it.

In fact, England, France and some of the smaller powers are engaged in fighting pirates.

But they can't say so.

If they did, they would recognize that international law is raging.

They have not the nerve to do it.

CHAPTER 25

I SHOULD have liked to have felt that the story told by the parlor-maid was true. She, her brother and the chauffeur had all had to fight for existence. I had caught some glimpses of that fight—the girl's dreary struggle through the most sordid kind of domestic service at an age when she should have been at school. The years of malnutrition and overwork. And for the men the loneliness and nerve strain of a life into which they had probably entered half from desperation.

But there was that hardness in Enid, that savagery in Fellowes, which seemed to prove them capable of any violent act. If violence served their turn. And though I still revolted at the thought of either of them having actually used that knife so horribly, I no longer felt that they were innocent of some part in the crime.

I felt nauseated, suddenly, with the whole affair. This relentless tracking down of the criminal seemed gruesome. Lord Simon, gently sipping his brandy, so obviously considered it all to be a most absorbing game of chess, "something to occupy a chap," that for a moment I lost all patience with him. And the brilliant little Picon, whose humanity was more evident, he too could not help enjoying his own efforts—and that disturbed me. Certainly I had never known Mr. Smith actually to hand a man over to the law, but even that was partly because the criminals he discovered had a way of committing suicide before he revealed their identity.

Of course, in a way, I wanted poor Mary Thurston avenged. But as I saw the investigators with appetites obviously whetted for the cross-examination they were about to make of this handsome girl, my gusto failed, and I felt like leaving them to their questions, and going out into the air. But my curiosity, of course, got the better of me, so that I took another whiskey and soda and leaned back in my chair to hear what questions they would put to Enid, now that they had reached the point of discovering her movements last night.

To our surprise Sergeant Beef conceived a sudden desire to ask questions at this point.

"Could you tell me," he began ponderously, "which of the ladies and gentlemen staying in the house lit their fires last night?"

But Williams came to the rescue. "Really, Beef," he said, "while these gentlemen have important questions to ask, I think we want to waste as little time as possible."

One or two others of us joined the appeal to Beef not to hold up the cross-examination, so that, after murmuring something about "having a pretty good idea, anyway," he was silent again.

"See anything of your brother yesterday?" asked Lord Simon, returning indefinitely to his task of cross-examination.

"No. Nothing at all."

"Yet it was his free afternoon."

"Was it?"

"How did you spend the afternoon?"

Enid hesitated, and I had a curious intuition that she was going to tell a lie.

"Well," she said at last, "I'd been up late the night before—reading. And not a detective novel either," she put in tartly, "So that yesterday afternoon I felt sleepy, and went up to my room for 40 winks."

"When did you first see Fellowes that day?"

"Not until just before dinner."

Again, I was sure that she was lying.

"Did he have anything particular to say to you then?"

"Nothing special, no."

"Nothing about a rat trap?"

"Oh, that wasn't anything particular. Whenever Mrs. Thurston wanted a talk with him, she'd tell him about the rats."

"That was an understood thing, then. Did Fellowes mention it last night?"

"Yes. He just told me."

"Did you mind?"

"Mind?"

"Yes, Enid. Incredible though it may seem to you, I said 'mind.' Very gauche of me, I doubt, but I just wondered whether a man's fiancée would have an objection to his being summoned to a lady's room at 11 o'clock or so, for a talk."

Enid colored slightly, but said only, "He can take care of himself. I never worry about him."

"A very sensible attitude, I'm sure."

"Well, there was nothing in it. You know what she was. She was a bit sentimental over him, that's all. Didn't worry me."

"Do you happen to know how Mrs. Thurston spent Friday afternoon?"

"She went up for what she used to call her siesta. Don't know how long she was in her room."

"Was that a regular habit of hers?"

"Pretty regular, yes."

"Did she have a siesta on the Thursday?"

"Yes. But not for long. She'd ordered the car for 2:30."

"And went out?"

"Yes."

"Do you know where?"

"How should I know? The chauffeur took her."

"I see. Well, let's get back to yesterday, Friday."

"Yes?"

"Did you go up to Mrs. Thurston's room when she dressed for dinner?"

"No, I'm not a lady's maid."

"When did you first go in there?"

"It wasn't long after dinner. I went to tidy up her things. She used to leave them anyhow when she dressed."

"And did you notice then whether the lights in the room were all right?"

Mrs. James Adams Has Party in Sister's Honor

Members of Club, Guests Gather in Evening

Mrs. James Adams honored Miss Florence Dunton, her sister, at a surprise party Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, the occasion marking her birthday anniversary.

The guests included the members of Miss Dunton's bridge club and a table of extra guests. Many gifts were presented the honored guest.

Contract bridge was in play during the evening, with prizes won by Miss Besse Fry and Miss Marvane Howard, for scores and the traveling prize awarded Mrs. Harold Grant. Miss Dunton was presented a guest prize. Lunch was served at the close of the evening by Mrs. Adams, assisted by Mrs. Paul Helwagen, Mrs. Robert Kelsey and Mrs. Robert Thomas.

The four tables of bridge players included Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Charles Pullen, Mrs. Mary Beck, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Floyd Hook, Miss Fry, Mrs. Allen Thornton, Miss Winifred Parrett, Miss Mary Heffner, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Max Friedman, Miss Lucille Neuding, Miss Bernadine Lutz, the Misses Marvane and Gladys Howard and Miss Dunton.

Scioto Chapel Ladies' Aid

The Ladies' Aid society of Scioto Chapel, Robtown, held its monthly session Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mabel Isham, Scioto township, with Mrs. Howard Youngkin, Mrs. Clo Philo and Mrs. Lou West assisting.

An exchange of comic valentines furnished much amusement during the afternoon. The appointments of the lunch served during the social hour to 50 members and guests were carried out in the valentine theme.

Mrs. Richard Hudson, vice president, was in the chair for the business and devotional hour. A program of readings followed. Taking part in the program were Mrs. Jennie Stewart, of Ashville; Mrs. O. W. Smith and Mrs. Ned Walker.

An all day meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Coit Wilson, of Scioto township, Thursday, March 10. The day will be passed in quilting, and a covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Tuxis Club

Twenty members of the Tuxis club of the Presbyterian church met in the social room Thursday evening following choir practice. This was best attended of any of the club meetings since organizing.

There was an hour's discussion on the ideal boy and girl friend, followed by games as the program for the evening. Mary Katherine Pile and Eleanor Dreisbach were members of the entertainment committee. Refreshments were served by Bonita Hulise and Ruth Robinson. During a short business period in charge of Miss Dreisbach, an invitation received by the officers of the Tuxis club from the Young People's group of the First Presbyterian church of Columbus was extended to the club to attend a party Friday, Feb. 18, at the Columbus church.

All young people's societies of the Presbyterian churches of central Ohio are invited to attend this meeting. Plans were made for members of the Tuxis club to attend this meeting if they so desired.

The Tuxis club will meet in two weeks on Thursday after choir practice, and will have either a regular meeting at the church or enjoy a theatre party.

Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. Virgil Brown, W. High street, entertained her bridge club Thursday evening.

Two tables were in play with Miss Catherine Brown being a substitute player. Prizes were presented Mrs. John Goodchild, Mrs. Virgil Brown and Mrs. Rockford Brown after the games. A salad course was served at the close of

About This And That In Many Sports

Draw Gives Ashville Tournament "Break"

If luck in the draw means anything, Ashville's varsity should be a finalist in the county cage tournament coming up next week . . . The Kaubermen cannot face Pickaway, Scioto or New Holland prior to the finals . . . The Harrison township lads, who assured themselves of a tie for The Daily Herald's league trophy by a victory over Washington, will meet the winner of the Saltcreek-Jackson game, and should be the victors . . . The next game before the Ashvillians, if successful in the first, will be the survivor of the Darby-Saltcreek and Walnut-Muhlenberg bracket . . . Which of these four will be semifinalists is not known, of course . . . On the other hand New Holland, Scioto and Pickaway must exterminate each other to get into the finals . . . New Holland plays its traditional rival, Perry, a team that gained a decision over the Bulldogs on the Atlanta court . . . If victorious the Bulldogs will meet Scioto in the second round feature . . . The winner of the New Holland-Scioto game, providing Perry is eliminated, will meet the survivor of the Washington-Monroe and Pickaway contest, the Pirates taking on the winner of the Washington-Monroe tilt . . . Truly, Ashville has been fortunate in the draw, but one never can tell when a surprise will be pulled.

Many Outstanding

The county cage tourney will see many outstanding individuals performing . . . Notable among the aces (one being named for each team) will be Creighton Anderson of Pickaway; Junior Gregg, Ashville; Peevée Speakman, New Holland; Earl Wilson, Scioto; Hinton, Saltcreek; Paul Thompson, Jackson; Tracy, Darby; Reeb, Williamsport; Beers, Walnut; Ankner, Muhlenberg; Bowshier, Perry; Delavene, Washington, and Hill, Monroe . . . But the boys who usually star in tournaments, when the heat is on, are those who have played supporting roles during the year, such as George Wilson, Pickaway; John Thacher, Jackson; Red Mallory, Ashville; Green, Darby; C. Reid, Muhlenberg; Gene Ebert, New Holland and others.

MARIETTA GAINS ONE POINT EDGE OVER BOBCAT '5'

BY UNITED PRESS
The much-heralded renewal of the Ohio University - Marietta "feud" turned out to be a lightning fast game, Thursday, but devoid of the fistic engagements that had marred two previous contests between the teams.

Marietta vened its season's score with Ohio U. when it turned back the Bobcats 35 to 34. Marietta held a 23 to 21 lead at the half and then stretched its advantage to 35 to 27 late in the contest. Here Ohio U. rallied, but its spurt fell one point short of overtaking the Pioneers.

Jimmy Whitting, ace Marietta forward, topped the scorers with 16 points. Gene Rinta with 10 markers was high for Ohio U. The University of Toledo's fine combine suffered its fourth defeat of the campaign last night when it bowed to Loyola of Chicago 47 to 34. Loyola was off in front and held a 30 to 18 advantage at the half. "Chuck" Chuckovits, Toledo forward, continued his great play by dropping in four field goals and six fouls for a total of 14 points.

WEIMAN FAVORED FOR CRISLER'S PRINCETON POST

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 11 — (UP) — Speculation on a successor to Fritz Crisler as Princeton's head football coach placed Elton O. (Tad) Weiman at the head of the list today.

It was understood that Weiman had rejected Crisler's offer to accompany him to Michigan as assistant. Weiman, Michigan's great tackle in 1918, '19 and '20, and head coach of the Ann Arbor institution in '27 and '28, was Crisler's aide for eight years at Minnesota and Princeton.

Much of Crisler's success at Princeton was shared by Weiman, who was head line coach. The Orange and Black won 35 games and only lost nine, four of them last year, under the Crisler-Weiman combination. Crisler depended on power rather than deception, and Weiman developed the necessary front line strength.

Some of the Tiger alumni were understood to be campaigning for a return to the traditional graduate coaching in vogue before Crisler's importation six years ago. Charley Caldwell, head coach at Williams, has been the only candidate mentioned in this vein.

Reports that Crisler had recommended Don Peden, Ohio university coach, to succeed him here were denied by athletic officials. Professor Burnham Dell, chairman of the athletic council, admitted Weiman was under consideration "along with several others," but said that nothing definite had been done toward choosing Crisler's successor.

MAX SCHMELING TOLD TO SAIL FOR NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 — (UP) — Plans for Max Schmeling to meet Steve Dudas in a third "tuneup" bout before fighting Joe Louis for the heavyweight title in June were abandoned today.

Unwilling to risk a Schmeling defeat, Promoter Mike Jacobs cabled Maxie to refrain from any more bouts before meeting Louis. He also ordered Der Schlager to proceed to this country as soon as possible. It had been planned for Schmeling to fight Dudas in Berlin or Los Angeles. In his other "tuneups," Schmeling kayeed Harry Thomas of Chicago, and outpointed Ben Foord of South Africa. His failure to kayo Foord in 12 rounds cost Maxie some of the prestige he had built up since he knocked out Louis in June 1936.

FEATURE GAME ONE OF MAJOR TILTS OF YEAR

Varsities To Tangle About 8:30 Following Two Preliminaries

Circleville high Tigers, victorious in their last two games, take on a major foe this evening on the C.A.C. court when Washington C. H.'s varsity invades the local balliwick.

The big game will get started about 8:15 following two preliminaries. The first will pit the eighth grade quintet against the Pickaway junior high boys at 6:30, and the second will find the Red and Black reserves meeting Washington C. H.'s shock troops.

Coach Jack Landrum, who has his boys playing aggressive basketball, will start Hap Davis and Paul Walters at the forward positions, Kenny Smith at center, and Dick Mader and Junior Martin at the guards. Earl Garner will be on the sidelines ready for service at either guard or forward.

The Tigers ran up their highest score of the season Tuesday evening against the Bourneville varsity when they tallied 39 points. All five of the starters were in good form, hitting the hoop from various spots on the court.

The strength of the Washington C. H. team is uncertain. The Fayette countians, coached by Charles Milligan, one of the younger class A mentors in Southeastern Ohio, have been up and down all season. Several splendid performances are in the Washington C. H. record book.

One of the largest crowds the season is expected to see tonight which will be refereed by Gene Mechling, former Capital cage star, now engaged in physical education instruction in Chillicothe.

HOLLYWOOD CLUB USE JACK DEMPSEY'S PLAN

INGLEWOOD, Cal., Feb. 11 — (UP) — One of Jack Dempsey's sporting gestures when the former heavyweight champion was running his colors at old Tijuana racetrack was adopted today at the Hollywood Turf club in a move which may strongly influence pari-mutuel betting in America.

When a Dempsey horse was entered in a race merely for a practice workout a stable attendant would publicly announce the horse would not be urged to win. All bets should be laid with this understanding. The Hollywood club has gone further; it will prohibit all wagering on "preppy" horses, and force owners to declare their intentions.

Ed Soule, the club's director, said the rule will be enforced when the New England race track opens here for a day meeting June 10. It is a innovation to protect the better.

JAMES TEN EYCK DIES

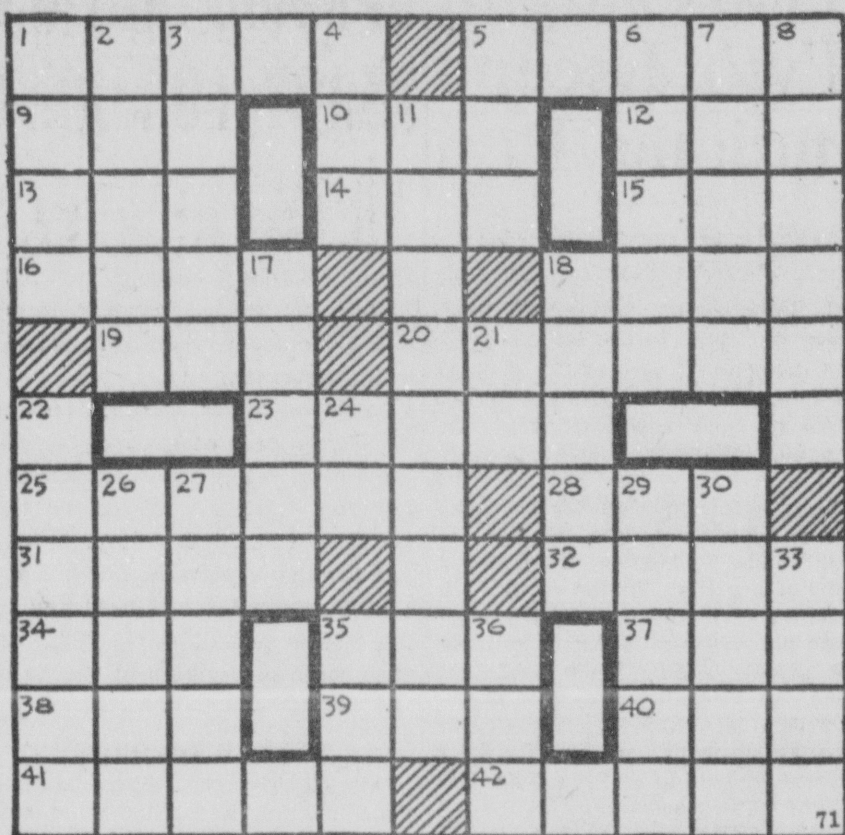

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 11 — (UP) — James Ten Eyck, veteran Syracuse university rowing coach, died at 6:20 a. m. today at Jackson Memorial hospital after an illness several weeks. He was 86 years old.

USE IT AGAINST HIM
"WHATSOEVER YOU SAY CAN BE used against you." That is an axiom of court procedure and it applies equally to bridge. Incidentally you can employ it as a weapon against the other fellow. Careful consideration of what his bid showed, coupled with a bit of planning, may disclose to you the one way whereby your objective may be attained.

West started the bidding on this deal with 1-No Trump, North passed, East called 2-Diamonds, South 2-Hearts and North jumped to 4-Hearts.
Against this contract, West laid down the diamond A and followed with the K. Mrs. Humphrey Wagar of Atlanta, the declarer, took note of that to help her in figuring out just what West's no trump bid was based on. West's switch then to the spade Q was won in the South hand with the K.
The heart A was now cashed and followed by the heart J, which was allowed to ride, as for his no trump bid, West no doubt held the Q. The heart 10 was next played, covered by the Q and K. Next in succession the spade A, a spade ruff, a diamond ruff and another spade ruff. On the eleventh trick, Mrs. Wagar led the club 10 to West, knowing that he had nothing to return but a club up to her A-Q. Played in this way, she lost nothing but the two diamonds and one club.

Earl Baker Takes Position As Vice President

Clarke Smith was elected president of the Williamsport Farmers' Institute at the election held Thursday afternoon. He succeeds Clark K. Hunsicker.

Other officers are Earl Baker, vice president; Mrs. Robert Baird, secretary; Merrill Carman, treasurer; John Puffinbarger, finance officer; and Mrs. George LeMay, hostess. Mrs. LeMay was elected.

Mr. Smith had served as vice president of the 1933 institute. Retiring officers are Donald Morgan, secretary; Roy Anderson, treasurer; and H. W. Campbell, finance officer.

The institute closed Thursday evening. Highlights of the closing session were two playlets presented by the Sorosis club, one entitled the "Spinners' Club," and the other "Crazy to Reduce." The auditorium of the high school was filled to capacity for the closing session. Forty members of the club participated in the two one-act playlets, directed by Miss Laura McGhee.

Speakers for the Thursday afternoon session included R. P. Moore, of the crops department of Ohio State university, who gave an illustrated talk on hybrid corn, and Mrs. Margaret Grapevine, of Morrow, O., state institute speaker.

Music during the afternoon session was provided by Mrs. James P. Moffitt, Mrs. Melvin Yates and Mrs. Harry Heffner, of Circleville. R. D. Pfoutz, county librarian, and Byrl Stevenson, Wayne township farmer, spoke during the morning session.

The corn and domestic exhibits were the largest ever held.

The governor said he had not instructed Horn to ask for competitive bids on coal purchases because the policy of not asking bids is designed to "pay a fair market price for coal, mined in Ohio, to protect the wages of the miners."

He said this policy has been followed by several previous administrations and "I will take no action to reflect on the morality of previous administrations or this one."

NED DRESBACH'S FEDORA HAS 'LIMBURGER' TROUBLE

Ned Dresbach's hat caused him considerable difficulty Thursday afternoon.

Some of the employees of the county auditor's office, in which Ned is deputy sealer of weights and measures, carefully placed some Limburger cheese under the band. Ned spent considerable time trying to locate the source of the odor that followed him during the afternoon.

Ned scrubbed the hat with soap and water, soaked it with a disinfectant, and finally decided to give up hopes of rescuing the headpiece.

"I have read what has been said abroad that frontiers are closed, that the SS troops (crack Nazi bodyguards) are being used in the army to watch over and expel reactionary officers, that there is unrest in the army."

"Since the official communiqué of February 4 announcing the Nazi shakeup) everything has been quiet. The army is quiet. Every officer is doing his duty at his regular post."

"I do not know. It is possible. He works rapidly and does not need a long time."

"At the moment he is breaking on the verandah in the sunshine."

Dietrich described rumors of a "breakdown" as nonsense. He said that Hitler's issuance of invitations for a reception to the diplomatic corps in Berlin February 15 was a sign that he was continuing his normal duties. He added that Hitler would most certainly be in Berlin on that date for the reception.

Don't experiment with Children's Colds

Relieve Their Misery This Proved Way

WHEN your child comes down with a cold, you can't afford to take needless risks. Use the treatment that has been doubly proved for you—Vicks VapoRub.

It has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

Vicks VapoRub is direct external treatment. There's no dosing—no risk of spoiling appetite, or disturbing a delicate digestion. VapoRub can be used freely, by morning, or by evening, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

You simply massage VapoRub on throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

No Long Waiting for Relief to begin...

Almost before you finish rubbing, the youngster begins to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after the little one relaxes into restful sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working—hour after hour. Often.

By morning the worst of the cold is over.
